A COVETED POSITION

To clinch his argument for the league of nations, President Wilson will make a speaking tour of the United States. Not only will the president make a campaign pleading for support of the league, but the league to enforce peace organization is to make a systematic tour of the country and intend to speak at every fair and on every chautauqua circuit in the country. Robert D. Leigh, of Reed college at Portland, has been appointed director of the Oregon "speakers' drive."

The people are, because of the late war, in just the right frame of mind to take kindly to the league, whether it is the proper course for the United States to pursue or not. Probably they go on the theory that we can accept and repent at our leisure. If any certain religious denomination is going to predominate in the league—as is charged that the Catholics are doing—we are stepping on dangerous ground if we swallow the league, Wilsonism and untried theories.

By intertwining the peace terms with the league, the president has taken the boldest step ever taken by any president. He will hand the package to congress and if that body rejects it, he will place all the blame on them for the confusion that is sure to follow. If they accept it, Woodrow Wilson will in all probability become president of the league, which position he would undoubtedly prize more than being president of the United States.

De Valera says he was sent to this country by the Irish to cultivate the closest possible "political and commercial relations" with the people of America. That's fine, if he will only leave out the "political" part of it. Americans have a big place in their hearts for the Irish, but Irish leaders have no business trying to break friendly relations between Uncle Sam and John Bull. Ireland should keep her politicians at home; they are doing all in their power to stir up trouble between the two countries. We don't need them.

consternations of the zodiac"—and then the car stopped and the lady got off to vote against those horrid re-education measures.

Soap box orators get busy! Henry M. Phillips of Philadelphia offers $2,000 for the best essay on the following subject: "The control of foreign relations of the United States; the relative rights, duties and responsibilities of the president, of the senate and the house, and of the judiciary in theory and practice." Now watch some "Red" or I. W. W. grab the swag.

The Glendale News has dealt "busher poets" a hard blow. "Busher Poets" are those who use a rule or yard stick to measure their literary gems. The News will hereafter charge all such contributors five cents per line and advises them to consult the family doctor before breaking forth into print a la Bobbie Burns.

The Ukrainians have broken their armistice with the Poles and resumed the fighting. The Germans have, by different acts, broken the armistice with the allies, but instead of showing the Huns where to "head in," the allies merely give the sauerkraut and pretzel bunch "more time to make up their minds to sign."

The forestry department is advising that every tourist who sees a fire in the woods stop at the first telephone and turn in the alarm. Good advice.

The strikes are spreading and Oregon may yet experience a dearth of telegraph news.

COCCHI BARES DETAILS OF RUTH CRUGER CRIME

Bologna, June 27.—The trial of Alfred Cocchi, charged with the murder of Ruth Cruger, in New York in 1917, has been interrupted to enable the court to examine the American court records with reference to testimony given in the Cocchi case regarding Cocchi's wife.

There was a spirited exchange between Signor Bagnoli, president of the court and Cocchi yesterday.

Cocchi told of having sawed the body of Miss Cruger so that he might hide it. Then he broke down, crying in a broken voice:

"I took the body and tried to conceal it in the cellar, but the door was not large enough and I sawed the body in two. The girl was dead when this was done."

Then followed a discussion between Signor Bagnoli and Cocchi as to whether the girl was dead before her body was dismembered. The whole courtroom was aghast at the prisoners' narration, but Cocchi rapidly proceeded with his story, being apparently very nervous.

Dispatches received Tuesday from Bologna stated Alfred Cocchi had appeared before the court and jury and had declared that his wife was guilty of the murder of Ruth Cruger, a New York girl, who was slain in Cocchi's bicycle repair shop in New York City in 1917. A New York grand jury exonerated Mrs. Cocchi.

permit saloons to resume operations until January 15, when constitutional prohibition will become effective.

Members of the judiciary committee said it was inconceivable that demobilization would be delayed beyond the middle of January. While they did not look for action by the president this week or next, the general view was that with the signing of the treaty by Germany and the government assurance of speedy demobilization, issuance of the president's proclamation might not be held up longer than Labor day at the latest.

GAP OF AGES SPANNED BY RECENT INVENTION

Menominee, Mich., June 27.—A one armed man operating the newly invented Lloyd loom so impressed the Hon. G. M. S. McNellage, member of the Australian legislature, during a trip through the Lloyd Manufacturing company's plant here that arrangements were completed by cable whereby the Australian government pays $250,000 for rights to use the machine as well as Lloyd's new method of production. They will only be used in giving employment to returned and crippled soldiers and sailors.

The Lloyd loom is the first mechanical device ever made which will weave reed or fiber for baby carriages, furniture or baskets. From the very earliest time—even when Moses was found in the bulrushes, tucked into a hand-made reed basket—these articles have been woven by hand. Marshal B. Lloyd, one of the best known American machine inventors, struggled many years over the task while scores of others failed. Success has finally come in a machine which will weave these fabrics thirty times faster than the most skilled hand-worker can and with much greater perfection. The gap of ages has been spanned in an industrial manner and reed and fiber manufacturers look for a complete revolution in their industry as result of the Lloyd loom.

NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE IS LOSING IN NORTH DAKOTA

Grand Forks, N. D., June 27.—Early returns from Ramsey county indicate a two to one vote against the referendum measures. Nelson county is close, the vote standing now 282 yes and 229 no on senate bill 157.

Fargo, N. D., June 27.—First returns on the referendum election held in North Dakota on seven measures of the non-partisan league, passed by the last legislature, show that the vote so far received was almost 2 to 1 against the measures.

The vote is from towns and villages, nothing being heard from the rural districts, where the league counts on scoring heavily.

$35,000,000 FOR U. S. AVIATION

Washington, June 27.—Without debate the senate approved the committee amendment to the naval appropriation bill increasing the fund for aviation from the $15,000,000 voted by the house to $35,000,000.

As revised upward by the senate committee, the bill carries about $782,000,000 as compared with $485,000,000 provided by the house. Among the important committee additions are $10,000,000 for federal acquisition of the Cape Cod canal.

REPUBLICANS IN CONFERENCE

Washington, June 27.—Chairman Hays of the republican national committee, conferred today with Republican Leader Lodge, Senator Knox, republican of Pennsylvania and other senators. None of them would discuss the conference, but Mr. Hays later reiterated that the league of nations must not be considered a party issue and that the country should not get the impression that the republican party was opposing it.
